Greeks Penetrate Italian Line in Albania

BRITAIN PREPARES TO SEND 45,000 TROOPS TO COMBAT FASCISTS

BULLETIN
London, Nov. 4.—(P)—A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Athens today said it was unofficially reported that the Greeks had taken the offensive in the southern sector of the front in the last 48 hours and were advancing at some points into Albanian territory.

By the Associated Press
Fighting over snow-blanketed mountains, Greek Alpine troops were reported to have driven seven miles into Italian held Albania today, ringing the Fascist supply base at Koritza and capturing 1,200 Italian prisoners.

Pro-Axis Spain, in a possible forerunner to an attack on Britain's rock bastion of Gibraltar, seized absolute control of the so-called Tangier "international zone" on the north coast of Africa—south-west of Gibraltar.

Vitally important in the European war front, the Tangier zone commands the Atlantic approach to the Mediterranean sea.

If placed at the disposal of the Rome-Berlin Axis as a naval base, the zone might play a decisive role in any Axis plan to bottle up the British Mediterranean fleet and end British control of the waters which Italians call "mare nostrum—our sea."

In further support of the 8-day-old Greek defense, the British were reported preparing to send three army divisions, about 45,000 troops, to combat the Italian invasion.

British and Greek warplanes inflicted heavy casualties, dispatches said, in low-flying attacks on Italian troops massed along the Greek-Albanian border.

A British broadcast said RAF raiders, accompanied by Greek planes, also attacked the Albanian capital, Tirana, and partly destroyed the palace of former King Zog, now being used as an Italian military headquarters.

Dispatches from Yugoslavia said the fall of Koritza, in the northern sector of the 100-mile Balkan war front, was "expected momentarily."

In the southern sector, Greek defenders were said to have repulsed Italian columns in fierce hand-to-hand fighting with bayonets and grenades.

Governor Going To Plymouth To Vote

Harrisburg, Nov. 4.—(P)—Governor James E. Eastman, returning from a political address at Buffalo, N. Y., will go to his Plymouth home tonight to vote for Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee and the state and local tickets.

His daughter, 25-year-old Dorothy James, will spend election day with her father.

The James family votes in the little precinct on Plymouth's main street known as "Bull Run."

The governor cancelled all state business until he returns Wednesday, and set his next press conference for 11 a. m. Thursday, after the election results should be determined.

New All-Time High For Pennsylvania Is Expected As Result Of Lively Campaign Supercharged With National and Local Issues

LEADERS CONFIDENT

BULLETIN
Harrisburg, Nov. 4.—(P)—The 1940 Pennsylvania election forecast cloudy but warmer weather for the election in central and eastern Pennsylvania tomorrow. F. Conover, federal weather man, said the indications show little prospect of rain in these sections, and the western part of the state likely will have cloudy but dry weather.

FINAL RADIO APPEALS TO BE MADE TONIGHT BY RIVAL CANDIDATES

By the Associated Press
The turbulent and unpredictable 1940 presidential campaign came to the end of the trail today amid a tumult of rival claims, political oratory and urgent last minute appeals for votes.

The crowded closing hours held little in keeping with the old tradition of a quiet election eve. Apart from the final messages which President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie were to make to the electorate, both Democratic and Republican parties marshalled speakers, national and local, for a series of eleventh hour broadcasts.

Mr. Roosevelt, back in New York where he will receive the returns tomorrow night, at his Hyde Park home, set aside his day for campaigning among his Hudson valley neighbors, very much as he did on the eve of the 1936 election.

His final message to the electorate will highlight the two-hour nationwide radio program (NBC, CBS, MBS from 10 p. m. to midnight, EST) arranged by the Democratic National Committee. Mr. Roosevelt will speak from Hyde Park shortly after 11 p. m. Henry A. Wallace, his partner on the ticket, also will make a final address.

Willkie, winding up his strenuous, marathon campaign, had three radio speaking engagements on his election eve schedule. The first was his closing speech to the convention of America (CBS 3:15 p. m.). Then he will take to the air again (CBS 10:15 p. m.) with Senator McNary of Oregon, his running mate, and return to the network for his last word in an hour long program (over all major channels) ending at 11 p. m. election day.

Election eve found no dearth of the usual contradictory forecasts of victory. Although record-breaking legislation, cross-currents and the like made for unusual uncertainty, predictions were as confident as ever.

Democratic National Chairman Flynn, first predicted a minimum of 427 electoral votes for Mr. Roosevelt, but then upped his estimate last night to an undisciplined high figure.

Republican National Chairman McNamara, meanwhile, was claiming a Willkie minimum of 224 electoral votes, a comfortable margin over the 266 necessary for election.

The weather bureau, forecasting in another field saw generally fair weather for most of the country.

GRAND JURY PROBE

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—(P)—Subpoenas for the records of 20 banks in the Philadelphia area were issued today by a federal grand jury investigating charges of election and registration irregularities in eastern Pennsylvania. The banks were directed to produce the records at 10 a. m. Wednesday, the day after the election, and show payments of $2,500 or more to "any committee or group or representative thereof."

Tomorrow, with the possibility of some light rain in some eastern and central sections.

Generally fair weather was expected to produce a record-breaking outpouring of some 50,000,000 votes. Computations place the number of eligible voters in the country at more than 60,000,000, but the usual percentage of stay-at-homes was expected. The previous vote record was in 1928, when 45,000,000 out of 55,000,000 eligible cast ballots, giving President Hoover a landslide victory.

AIR RAID SIRENS HEARD IN LONDON AFTER INTERLUDE

London, Nov. 4.—(P)—Londoners heard the scream of air raid sirens, the bark of anti-aircraft fire and the explosive thud of bombs late this afternoon after an interlude in the Nazi aerial siege lasting almost 24 hours.

Throughout last night there was quiet. It lasted through most of the day, but at tea time an up-rush broke the unaccustomed silence and a single raider swooped into the metropolitan area, dropping several bombs.

The Sunday night of quiet was the first London had enjoyed since Sept. 7. There were reports of Nazi activity over east Anglia this morning.

Some raiders roared over the city yesterday, but the all-clear which ended the last daylight raid sounded at the time the night assaults usually began. The only attacks during the night, the government said, were in northeastern England and eastern Scotland.

A German raider approaching an east Anglian town after sun-up today dropped a salvo of bombs and fled through heavy anti-aircraft fire.

Yesterday's twilight alert was London's 300th of the war. Of the total, 71 came at night, 104 in the morning and 125 in the afternoon. On three occasions the sirens were heard nine times in one 24-hour span.

ASSISTANCE TO BE SENT TO THE ISLAND OF GUAM

The Greek High Command said a heavy Italian attack in the mountains of Epirus province, preceded by 15 consecutive bombing forays against Greek defense positions, had been routed with the destruction of nine Fascist tanks.

Siege, the official Italian news agency, acknowledged that Premier Mussolini's legions were meeting stiff Greek resistance in the Iosanna (Janina) region at the southwest end of the front.

Concrete British aid to the little Aegean kingdom took a two-fold spurt. Official circles in London confirmed that British troops now have landed on the Greek island of Crete, opposite the Italian Dodecanese Islands. The British poured $50,000,000 into Greece's defense coffers.

British naval assistance in striking at the Italian invasion was also indicated in sketchy reports of a sea battle Sunday evening west of the island of Corfu, at the lower end of the Greek-Albanian frontier.

The Athens radio said that 30 minutes after firing at sea was heard "a large vessel was seen ablaze, steaming northward," toward Italian defense bases—indicating the ship was Italian.

At the same time, British RAF bombers, now presumably operating from Greek bases, caused an hour and 45-minute alarm in Rome—the Italian capital's first alert since July 24—and also attacked Naples again.

Mussolini's High Command said that the RAF raiders failed to reach Rome, although the capital's populace was awakened by the wail of air-raid sirens at 3:45 a. m., and that the planes which attempted to bomb Naples were met.

BERLIN DENIES TALK OF NEW PEACE MOVE

Berlin, Nov. 4.—(P)—All talk of a new peace move by Adolf Hitler is "made in England," authorized German sources declared today, and is intended to influence the United States elections.

Reaction of the United States as a possible mediator is clear indication of such a trend, they asserted.

Considering the Axis' military and diplomatic situation, these sources contended, there can be no doubt whatsoever that it has no desire to offer England peace.

Questions concerning the whereabouts of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, were not answered.

HUSBAND IS HELD FOR MURDERING HIS WIFE

Allegan, Mich., Nov. 4.—(P)—The body of a 37-year-old Ellen D. Fox was uncovered in a shallow grave on a farm near here this morning after an all night search by sheriff's deputies.

Dale Darrow, 23, the young woman's estranged husband, is held in the county jail. Prosecutor E. W. Andrews said he had confessed he killed his wife during a quarrel last Saturday.

BATTERED BODY FOUND IN AUTO

Allentown, Nov. 4.—(P)—Assistant District Attorney Kenneth Koch said today that Leonard Marotta, 26, has been identified as the driver of a swaying car in which later was found the mangled and battered body of Francis Joseph Reilly, 55, of West Easton, Pa.

Marotta, who said he came from his Brooklyn, N. Y., home to hunt with relatives, admitted fighting with Reilly, Koch asserted, but denied that he struck him with a crank which was found in the car.

Marotta was arrested yesterday by State Motor Policemen Harry Wilhere and two comrades after Reilly's body was discovered in his parked automobile a short distance from Trexorton. He was held for investigation and Koch said formal charges would be filed today.

Police started a search for the car after Ferdinand Moth reported he saw two men fighting in a moving automobile. He followed it, passed when it parked, and on the way back to town, declared he saw a man walking whose shirt

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION ACT IS UPHELD

Harrisburg, Nov. 4.—(P)—The Dauphin county court today upheld the constitutionality of the Pennsylvania unemployment compensation act, overruling Fred M. Perkins, York battery manufacturer who had challenged its validity.

William M. Hargess, president judge, in his opinion said the court "has no power to consider" the manner and operation of the four-year-old statute and the size of the revenue provided under it.

The state tax is credited to Pennsylvania employees by the federal government.

He objected to paying $222.61 in the 2.7 per cent wage tax claimed by the state, arguing that it was a "surrender" of Pennsylvania's rights, because the federal government at Washington had taken custody over a $120,000,000 trust fund accumulated from social security taxes.

The wage tax bill had been for Perkins seven or eight employees during 1937, 1938 and 1939.

The state tax is credited to Pennsylvania employees by the federal government.

TWO SUICIDES RECORDED IN ERIE

Erie, Nov. 4.—(P)—Two deaths in Erie were listed as suicides today by Coroner W. G. Stroh, who blamed fear of impending medical operations for both.

He said Mrs. Minnie M. Burrel, a widow who was to undergo an eye operation, had taken her life with gas today; and that Boyd Stewart, 30, had shot himself in his bedroom Sunday. Stewart had been ill and an operation had been recommended by a physician.

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION TO FORE IN CAPITOL

Washington, Nov. 4.—(P)—The secrecy shrouding American naval operations in the Caribbean, reports of an impending German "peace offering," and a conference between Secretary of State Hull and the French ambassador all combined today to keep the complex international situation to the fore, despite keen official interest in the election.

Gaston Henry-Haye, the French ambassador, delivered to Secretary Hull a message from Marshal Petain to reply to President Roosevelt's communication to him concerning Franco-American relations. The ambassador told newspapermen, just before entering Hull's office, that he was delivering Petain's answer, but declined to reveal its contents.

Hull said at his press conference that the question of French possessions in the western hemisphere arose during his conversation with the French ambassador but that it was not discussed to any great extent.

Asked about reports of German peace proposals, Hull said he had nothing new on the subject.

The contents of the president's communication were not disclosed, but informed officials had the impression that it dealt with the (Turn to Page Nine)

MEAGRE CLUE IN LATEST MURDER SWAMP MYSTERY

New Castle, Nov. 4.—(P)—A single clue apparently offers authorities their only hope of identifying what they believe to be the latest victim of Cleveland's "mad butcher" of Kingsbury Run.

Coroner T. F. Nugent said several teeth had been extracted from the skull of a skeleton uncovered in nearby "murder swamp."

He named this a slim chance of identification, however, since there was no other trace of dental care.

Mike Senian found the skull while hunting rabbits Saturday. Police located the remainder of the skeleton about 40 feet away.

Dr. Nugent said the victim probably was a man whose head had been severed with a knife last winter and the remainder of the body buried.

"Murder swamp" in ten years has given up as many bodies, the coroner said, as a young man being found just a year ago almost in the same spot as the latest discovery.

Dr. Nugent declared that "without a doubt" all the crimes were linked.

The "mad butcher" since 1921 is credited with more than a score of killings along the Kingsbury and Lake Erie railroad tracks from Cleveland to Youngstown. Victims invariably were found in Cleveland's Kingsbury Run section during early years of the "butcher's" reign of terror. The same surgical skill marked all the crimes.

FIRST QUOTA IN STATE TO BE 770

Harrisburg, Nov. 4.—(P)—A problem in mathematics how to divide 770 men among 422 local areas—confronted Pennsylvania's draft boards today.

The figure is the state's quota for the first group of men, 21 to 25 years of age, to be summoned into military camps for a year's service under the conscription plan. They are called on the basis of their order numbers, drawn in the national lottery in Washington.

It is up to the draft boards now to choose the earliest order numbers, weed out the unhealthy, the married men with dependents, and those with jobs in vital defense industries. Ultimately, each draft board comes down to a handful to be sent to camp.

Questionnaires went out today from the boards to the registrants to obtain full information on their status in life. This information forms the basis of a decision on a man's eligibility or whether he should be deferred.

The questionnaires were mailed Friday from state headquarters to the local draft boards.

MOST OF THE NATION WILL HAVE FAIR SKIES

Washington, Nov. 4.—(P)—Voters in most of the country probably will have fair skies on election day, but there may be occasional rain in some central and eastern sections.

The weather bureau, in a special advance forecast, said that light rains might fall during daylight hours in portions of the middle and lower Mississippi Valley, in the region bordering on the Great Lakes and in parts of the east Gulf states and southern plains.

In the north Atlantic states, the forecast stated, rain was not likely until election night.

TRAPPED MINER FOUND ALIVE AFTER 49 HOURS

Scranton, Nov. 4.—(P)—Julius Yankowski, rescued from a mine cave-in after 49 hours, stayed in a hospital bed today while doctors ordered his first solid meals in three days.

He was taken from the mine of the Pennsylvania Collieries Company yesterday, a few hours after workers dug out the body of James Long, 44.

Both men were trapped by a rock fall. About 60 others escaped.

The discovery of Long's body dashed hopes that Yankowski would be found alive by several hours later his husky voice, carried through the rock and clay barrier, sprang the rescue squad.

MOST OF COUNTY'S 21,000 VOTERS EXPECTED TO CAST THEIR BALLOTS

A large percentage of Warren county's 21,000 registered voters will go to the polls tomorrow to cast their ballots in the 1940 presidential election to help determine whether the Democratic party will remain in power in Washington for another four years, or whether the Republicans take over the reins of government.

While the presidential campaign has overshadowed the other races, Pennsylvania voters also will decide whether several positions now held by Democrats will stay in that column or go to Republican candidates.

Locally, the only offices to be filled are those of state assemblyman from Warren county and congressman from the 20th Pennsylvania district, which includes this county. Both are now held by Republicans.

With only six offices to be filled in tomorrow's voting, it is expected that the voting will proceed very rapidly. Party leaders predicted a large number of straight ticket votes, which also will help to speed up the voting.

Polls throughout the state will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. Because of the large number of voters expected to go to the polls, election officials are urging everyone to vote as early as possible, in order to avoid last-minute congestion.

Arrangements are being made by the Times-Mirror to receive complete returns of the election as rapidly as results are available. The wires of the Associated Press and long returns from all sections of the country and first reports will be available as soon as the polls close and the first ballots are counted.

In the Warren county voting, results are expected to start coming into this office soon after eight o'clock, with all voting machines

Nineteen Take Part In Sunday Journey

Nineteen persons turned out for the 32nd Sunday afternoon hike of the Allegheny Hiking Club yesterday. There are nearly always a few new hikers each Sunday and there were five yesterday.

The trip yesterday was one of the most enjoyable this season. Driving up the forestry road from Route 6 to the junction of the hill road to Morrison run, cars were left there and the group then hiked up the hill to the ridge between Morrison run and Tionesta creek, and walked west along that ridge to the head of Trout run, circling around on woods roads until the return was made down Morrison run to the starting point. The distance covered was between seven and eight miles.

Four of the hikers, Catherine Reed, Patsy Chester, Joanne Weiler and Dick Moll, walked the remaining four miles over the road to town. Three of the group, who became separated from the main party, had a hike of their own in the same general vicinity.

STUNT NIGHT AT YOUNGSHVILLE HI ATTRACTS MANY

Youngsville, Nov. 2 — Few school entertainments in Youngsville have drawn the crowd that attend Stunt Night, filling to capacity the school auditorium Friday evening, with nearly a hundred persons standing through the entire program, even though an announcement was made that because of the inability of many to get into the auditorium the Stunt Night program would be repeated Monday evening, Nov. 4th.

Coach Beck deserves great credit for his work in training and planning the evening's program. The actors apparently had as much fun in the performance as the audience did in watching.

Jack Stephenson of Irvine, acted as announcer. The program opened with numbers by the school band under Music Supervisor Byron Swanson.

Kiddies review of dramatized songs, acrobatics, tap dancing, Mother Goose dramatizations were given by grade children.

Girls of the high school save acrobatic and pyramiding. A special number in tumbling and athletic acrobatics with a musical accompaniment was given by Miss Hale.

An especially amusing number was the paging of Mrs. Swanson for a plant. Each time the usher appeared the plant was larger until at the last the usher was seated in the branches of the plant, from which point he did his calling.

The high school students also provided various kinds of magic numbers, all in ludicrous costumes, there were clever tap dancing numbers by the girls of the high school, and boxing and wrestling by groups of boys.

Two numbers which greatly pleased were the Little German Band in costume and the "girls chorus", a very glamorous group composed of the members of the football squad.

The stunt night program was given by the high school boys' Varsity Club as a benefit for school athletics. The program will be repeated Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

HALLOWEEN EVENTS

Halloween events passed very well in Youngsville without malicious mischief, or undesirable pranks.

The firemen were much pleased with the large attendance at their Halloween dancing party in the I. O. O. F. Hall Wednesday evening, with Beebe's orchestra of Warren supplying the music.

There were a number of Warren people among the masquerade guests. Two of these secured the first prize for the best ladies' costume and also the first prize for the best man's costume.

The same evening the Rebekahs held their masquerade party with the social features in the I. O. O. F. dining room.

Bussing men responded generously and a very fine party was held in the gymnasium Thursday evening for the grade school children. There were most interesting costumes, prizes and good cats.

TURKEY MAY BE CHEAPER THAN THAT OF 1939

This year's Thanksgiving turkey should cost less than that bird you had for the 1939 holiday, and may be slightly heavier, according to present indications.

At least, that's the guess of state market experts who thumbed over prices paid to farmers thus far in 1940, and found that the supply is plentiful and obviously so planned to meet a possible double Thanksgiving celebration such as occurred in 1939.

Pennsylvania observes the holiday on the last Thursday of the month, but there's nothing to prevent a family from sitting down to two Thanksgiving spreads, they point out. President Roosevelt has proclaimed the third Thursday as the occasion for thanks.

Besides the abundant supply of this season's gobblers, storage was heavy, and marketing has started earlier than usual, says an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg.

Pennsylvania gets most of its supplemental supply of turkeys from the northwest and Texas, and generally they sell for less than the local birds, fresher dressed, the marketing division of the agriculture department says.

On October 15, the average price paid to farmers for live turkeys was 22 cents in Pennsylvania and 14.7 cents in the nation as a whole, while in 1939 it was 24 and 15.3 cents, respectively.

R. Wilcox, Mrs. Nell J. Caldwell, the hostesses Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Reid.

Wednesday Mrs. Day entertained at a dinner party for Mrs. Kennedy while Mrs. Wilcox complimented her with a dinner on Saturday.

THE Y. M. C. A. AND HEALTH

The annual "Call to Membership" will be opened by the Y. M. C. A. Friday and extend through to November 15th.

That reminds that in the months immediately ahead every person will be called upon to serve the country—in one way or another. Total national preparedness means that every citizen will have a role to play—a definite responsibility to meet. It may be to industry, to the farm, to the office, laboratory or to the armed forces that the national emergency will summon you.

Wherever it may be, the rugged health man will render the greatest service. On him the nation will place greatest reliance. This is the time to take stock of your vitality. Your physical quotient is highly important. National fitness is individual fitness multiplied by 130,000,000.

The Warren Young Men's Christian Association offers you gymnasium classes, swimming classes, basketball, volley ball, badminton, handball, squash, group and mass games, individual exercise apparatus,
i. e. health vibrator, rowing machines, bicycle exerciser, chest weights, punching and training bags.

You could employ no better method to acquire physical fitness than by joining the Y. M. C. A. and making daily use of its physical department.

VOTE EARLY TUESDAY

With over 21,000 citizens of the county eligible to cast ballots tomorrow, one of the heaviest votes ever recorded in the district is expected to be polled in the election for president.

The ballot is comparatively short and little time should be necessary in registering a choice, a situation that should expedite the voting considerably.
Straight tickets, which are likely to predominate, also will have a tendency to speed the balloting.

There are, however, always plenty of delays, rush congestion periods, voting machine studies, etc., which prompt the admonition to voters of Warren to cast their ballots as early in the day as possible. There are many residents who can just as easily vote during the morning hours as in the late afternoon or early evening. Those who can vote during the forenoon should make it a point to do so. This will make it much easier for those who will be unable to vote until the last hour rush, which always finds the polls especially in the borough, crowded.

Both party organizations have arranged forces for work at the polls in getting out the vote. Voters themselves can help by making an extra effort to cast their ballots as early as possible.

If we had to pay for the privilege of voting every place in the land would be jammed from early morning until late at night. As stated before, the stay-at-home voter imbued with the idea that his or her vote mean little difference, could control every election, and that is especially true of tomorrow's balloting.

Let every eligible citizen go to the polls tomorrow, and by all means vote as early in the day as possible.

THE VOTING BOOTH IS HOLY GROUND "BECAUSE"

I can go to any church I please—
I read, see and hear what I choose—
I can express my opinions openly—
My mail reaches me as it was sent... uncensored—

I can join any political party I wish—
I can vote for what and whom I please—
I have a constitutional right to trial by jury—
I am protected against unlawful search and seizure—

Neither my life nor my property can be forfeited without due process of law—

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

And if thou wilt walk in my ways, to keep my statutes and my commandments, as thy father David did walk, then I will lengthen thy days.—I Kings 3:14.

No principle is more noble, as there is none more holy, than that of a true obedience.—H. Giles.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—It is painful to see a play like "Journey to Jerusalem" withdrawn after only a few days. Its failure is an indictment against the intellectual level of the average play-goer in New York.

When Maxwell Anderson wrote it he made the charitable mistake of believing people would be willing to use their imagination a little. This was bad reckoning.
New York audiences never like to use their heads at any time. When they go to the theater they want intrigue and sex. When you've got hoodlum you don't have to think. When you've got sex, it's all right there.

Unfortunately Mr. Anderson didn't have any pent-house intrigues or maidens surrenders by moonlight in "Journey to Jerusalem." It was simply a moving inquiry into a challenging subject.
Hence the yawns. Hence the play's withdrawal. Hence, also, a net loss of about $25,000.

THERE is a little French girl in the Ed Wynn show whose name is Lucienne. She dances with her brother Ashour. There is an apache number. It is burlesqued and is very amusing.

One day before she came to America she met a young French tenor named Robert Lorent. She married him and a week after war was declared he went into the army. She hasn't seen him since.

The other day came a Paris cable from Lorent. "Come home," it said. He explained he had been in a concentration camp at Toulouse.

Lucienne, her heart thumping, hurried into the Old Master's dressing room, where Wynn leisurely was removing his make-up.

"My husband," she cried, "he is alive. I must go."

The clown thought this over for a moment. Then he said, "But it's impractical. You're in a show.
And how would you get there?"

"Love come fast," declared Luc-cienne.

"Okay, but there's a lot of things to consider. If you go back to Paris, you'll probably starve.
Let's bring your 'husband' over here."

Lucienne fell on the comedian's neck and howled for joy. That's what they're trying to do now—find some way of getting Luc-cienne's "husband" out of France.
Meanwhile, the apache goes on.
Members of the cast say they never have seen Lucienne so gay.

CITY Comptroller J. D. McGoldrick has unearthed an old loan on the city's books that it can't do anything about. The loan was a 200-year bond issue made back in 1867, and though the amount borrowed was only $278, 000, its interest at maturity will amount to more than two million dollars. Don't let this annoy you too much, however. The date of maturity doesn't fall until 2147, just 207 years from now. The city assumed the debt when the little Westchester town of West Farms was absorbed by the City of New York. When you absorb a city you also absorb its obligations.

turing well-known magicians.

Carmen Sylva Fulfilled
Ambition to Be a Queen

ELIZABETH, princess of Wied, Germany, had one answer for persistent suitors. She would not marry unless she could be "queen of Rumania." And at that time there was no free Rumania.

Prince Charles Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen got that same answer. But in 1882, Alexander Cuza, Rumanian patriot, won recognition and complete autonomy for his country. Prince Charles was chosen king. He was crowned in 1886, married Elizabeth the same year, holding her to her promise. The king and queen are pictured on the stamp above, one of a series of 14 commemorating the centenary of the birth of Carol I.

Elizabeth immediately became an important public figure, gained the love of her subjects. She endowed hospitals, helped co-operatives, worked for peasant legislation.

In addition, under the pen-name
"Carmen Sylva" she wrote plays, novels, verse, translated German folk tales into Rumanian. Her only child died at the age of 4.

Elizabeth died in 1916, at the age of 73, two years after her husband. Today she is remembered more as a poet than a queen.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINETT

WASHINGTON—Answering the mail orders:
T. C., Garrison, N. Y.—The present session of congress will have to last until Dec. 23 to break the record for the longest sitting on record. It already is the second longest and the "gentlemen's agreement" for three-day recesses now in operation does not come to an end until Nov. 18, so there is a good chance that the record will be broken. The longest sitting of congress was the second session of the 65th—"the World war congress"—which convened on Dec.
3, 1917, and adjourned Nov. 21, 1918, remaining in session a total of 354 days. The present "gentlemen's agreement" is actually a long recess of some five weeks, during which a "skeleton staff" meets every three days (the longest recess permitted by law) and recesses for another three days.
The principal part of the agreement is that no effort will be made to handle any official business—thus allowing the representatives and those senators up for re-election to go home and mend their political fences with a clear mind and a certainty that no one will try to slip over any legislation to which they are opposed.

D. L. K. Amarillo, Texas—My prediction WAS right that if John J. "Jack" Dempsey, New Mexico representative, were defeated in his race for the senate nomination, he would remain in the national political picture. "The man who saved the Hatch act in the House" has been appointed a member of the United States maritime commission to serve for six years.
The four-year-old maritime commission is a very powerful independent agency charged with development and improvement of our merchant marine and any member of it is in a position to do the government a real service.
The senate has not acted on Mr.
Dempsey's appointment and will not act until regular sessions are resumed late in November, but so far indications are that he will be confirmed without opposition.

R. B. Grand Rapids, Mich.—It is true that the Civil Aeronautics

Mrs. M. J., Colorado Springs, Colo.—Application for the position of hostess at one of the army cantonments should be made to the commander of the corps area in which you wish to serve or to the commandant of the camp where you seek such appointment.
There are only 99 such positions to be filled and the war department here reports a flood of applications. Hundreds of these will have to be thrown out immediately, as it is apparent on the surface that the applicants are not equipped for the position. (The reason most frequently given for application for the job is that "I wish to be near my son.") If you are, as you say, a "motherly person" with years of experience as hostess-manager of a large tea-room, it would be my guess that your application would certainly receive consideration.

BEGIN LOCAL DRIVE TO COMBAT FOREIGN ELEMENTS

Threat this town and county Quaker State and Sterling gasolines and motor oil dealers have started a concentrated drive against the foreign elements that are present now in every car that has not yet changed to Winter Lubricants.

We read every day of Fifth Column activities and actions. We hear stories of sabotage and destruction accomplished by enemies within.

Well, that is just what is happening—say these Sterling and Quaker State dealers—within our cars. While we have peacefully been driving our cars this summer, foreign elements (such as dust, chemical corrosion, water dilution, etc.) have worked themselves inside our lubricants and will, unless we prevent it—damage the motor. They are like the fifth column we read about. They work secretly from within and, no matter how high quality the lubricants, they will get in their destructive work—IF WE DO NOT CHANGE these dirty lubricants to clean, fresh, quality winter lubricants NOW.

These Quaker State and Sterling dealers are reminding their customers that all car manufacturers recommend regular thousand-mile motor oil changes; that twice each year, in the Spring and in the Fall, all the lubricants in the car should be changed to the correct seasonal grade.

Right now it is time to drain out the summer-worn lubricants, in crankcase, transmission and different—and refill with Quaker State or Sterling—each of which is the quality leader in its price field.

We think of lubricants as wearing out or running low. We usually, if we are the average motorist, think of changing our oil because it has run so many miles and is worn out.

That is a false viewpoint. We change lubricants at certain specified intervals for different lubricants—not because they are worn out—but because they are contaminated by that time. They are full of these foreign elements—and experience has proven that beyond the mileage recommended for each lubricant, we run a risk of decreased performance, reduced efficiency and, what is most important, we are heading for expensive repairs.

Quaker State and Sterling dealers urge their customers to come in now and change to the correct grade of quality winter lubricants. That is the only way each car owner can prevent the fifth column activities of dust, corrosion, dilution and contamination from sabotaging expensive gears and bearings.

Just as vigilance will fight the fifth column in our nation, careful observance of WINTER CHANGE-OVER TIME will fight the fifth column in our car.

See your Quaker State or Sterling dealer today for complete Change-Over service and for quality lubricants.

Both suits were outgrowths of an automobile accident.

The jury was excused until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock.

The majority of cases were continued or reported settled, with the following remaining for trial: Charles W. Foulkrod vs. Wayne J. Morrison, trespass.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

by Rita Mohler Hanson

Chapter 33
Struggle By Night

At five o'clock the boy returned with the extra horses. Temu paid for them and for the hospitality they had received, and shortly afterwards, led the way across the snow-clad plain under a threatening sky.

"We'll save time by crossing the mountains here," he said.

"Do you know where we are?" Lynn asked, gratefully tucking her hands in the long sleeves of her Mongol coat and letting her pony have his head. The horses kept side by side at a steady pace.

"We're directly east of the border town of Dorchi."

She looked at him curiously. "Do you realize that when we arrive there, we'll probably find that Dick and the Duke of Sacho have taken over the government of Shani Lun?"

"That's on the knees of the gods," he said shortly and urged his horse ahead. He did not seem to want to talk about it.

They began a climb through a rocky gorge that looked like the dumping ground of contractors who had used when they were finishing the mountain peaks for the Creator. The trail wound interminably hour after hour through the waste. They stopped a few minutes at noon for a bowl of hot tea and then pressed on into a rough plateau, thinly covered with scrub in the places where dry grass lay abundantly around the rocky outcrops.

Temu saw that Lynn was becoming tired and cold. "We'll soon reach a stone hut," he promised.

"Can't we sleep out?" she asked, drowsy and a bit breathless from the high altitude.

"No," he said, "with snow on the ground." He urged the horse forward at a faster pace, crossed another divide, and followed a stream around a mountain peak to an alpine valley where the hut with a few stone cattlepens stood on a shelf above a perpendicular canyon wall. The snow-covered hills were three saddle horses.

Temu stopped. "Someone else is here tonight," he said in a troubled voice. "I don't like it."

"Why?" asked Lynn, halting her horse beside him.

"The place has a reputation of being a robbers' rendezvous. He's thinking of a moment before dismounting. 'Stay here,' he said and disappeared into the hut through a low door, across which hung a camel skin. Lynn's pony snuggled wearily and cocked an inquiring ear back at her.

"You don't feel any worse than I do," she answered him and looked at the sky. Low, threatening clouds were smoothing themselves out in preparation for another snowfall.

Temu reappeared. "Three of them," he said, leading the horses into one of the stone-fenced corrals. "They're none too prepossessing but would better stay. One of a fellow looks as if he might be a renegade professional wrestler from some Prince's retinue."

Lynn slid down into the snow. "Wait until I can get in with you," he advised, giving the horses their morsels of grain and loosening the saddles. He concealed his field-glasses and electric torch in a saddle-bag. Then he turned to Lynn and began unwinding the sash from about her waist. He spoke crisply.

"Keep on the fur cap, pulled low. Don't look the men in the face. They'll consider it an invitation." He thrust a small pistol into her hand.

"It's loaded and on safety." He showed her how to handle the weapon. "Hide it in your blouse and do not use it unless I give the word. Do you understand?"

"Then put your saddle on your shoulder and follow me."

Lynn drew back. "If it's that bad, can't we go on?"

"We're between the devil and the deep blue sea. Keep up your courage. We'll come through all right."

Alone with Death

Lynn followed him, stiff and white with apprehension. The inside of the corral was bare except for the accoutrements and packs that the men had brought in. A small argol fire burned in the center of the room under a smoke hole in the roof. The floor was a bed of animal chips. Temu stacked the saddles and saddle bags in a pile and spread a robe over them.

The three men watched them in silent inhumanity sizing them both up and their few belongings.

Later, in the blackest part of the night just before dawn, Temu's senses were alerted by the pressure of Lynn's hand on her shoulder. He turned over and her fingers explored his face and tilted it so that she could put her lips to his ear. His arm went around her, outside the robe, drawing her close. They lay for a while in tense silence.

Suddenly he made a spring and gave a twist to the stealthy figure that had been searching in the dark. A man half groaned, half screamed. A bullet from one of his comrades sang not far above Temu's head.

He snatched the electric torch and turned it on. Never having seen such a light before, the two on the opposite side of the fire dropped their weapons and fell back, their hands in the air.

PARADE IS HELD AT SHEFFIELD ON HALLOWE'EN

Sheffield, Nov. 2.—Sheffield's fifth annual Halloween parade was held Thursday evening, with hundreds of spectators viewing the spectacle from vantage points along the route. The parade, consisting of three divisions, formed on Elk and Leathery streets and followed a route that included Center, South Main, Pickering, Center, Horton, South Main and Elk streets.

A motor escort consisting of a fire department truck and cars bearing state motor police and parade officials preceded the marching contingents, first of which was the Lincoln school group, including the drum and bugle corps. Included in the second division were the Penn Bottle Company band and the Washington school students. The third division consisted of the Washington band, Barnes school and high school students, and a novelty orchestra.

At the disbanding point, Center street near Elk, oranges and candy were given to the parade participants, 25 of the treats containing cash prizes ranging from 10c to $1.

The grand prize, a handsome music box containing several hundred dollars' worth of prizes, was won by Hugh Rockwell, Lincoln school fifth grade student, who for the occasion had converted himself into a realistic long-legged, tower-necked ostrich.

A special prize of a box of candy to each was awarded to Misses Anita Jones and Barbara Ritchie, Lincoln school third grade students. A patriotic couple whose red, white and blue garb was adjudged that most appropriate to the times, were given three classifications of costumes—prettiest, funniest and most original—prizes being given for first and second best in each classification. On that basis the six best costumes in each room of each school were chosen. The prizes being theatre tickets.

On the same basis the six best costumes in each school were selected. Each first prize winner receiving a two-pound box of candy. Members of the town's two mothers' clubs were the judges.

There were 42,645 pilots holding licenses during August, 1940, as compared to 26,144 licensed pilots during August, 1939.

Definitely and decidedly if you haven't given it any attention, reach for the telephone, call number 24 and let the Hoagvall Hardware, 213 Penna. Ave., E., send a man to your home and check over your plumbing and heating requirements for winter.

Most people can struggle along during the warm weather months without much thought to either of these fundamental utilities of the household, whether they are in good repair or not.

But winter and colder weather bring more pointed problems. If the heating plant, particularly heat up to par, you are going to have a house alternately cold and hot, causing discomfort and perhaps even illness to many members of the household. Not to mention the fact that the chances are ten to one you are burning enough extra coal to have had the furnace repaired at no additional cost.

The average individual cannot be held responsible for knowing how to repair a boiler. It takes an expert, someone who has had

ROLL ROOFINGS PROTECT HOMES AGAINST STORM

Those cold winter blasts will soon be striking in Warren and now is the time Phone 1977 and let Claude H. King, contractor in roofing and sheet metal work at 615 Water street, give you a real roof over your head.

One of the many grades of roofing he carries Ru-Ber-Old roll roofings.

In the year 1892, William Guston, first superintendent of The Rubberoid Co.'s plant at Bound Brook, N. J., blended stearn pitches with asphalt and produced a rubber-like compound, possessing remarkable weatherproofing qualities. After further experiments, a vulcanized coating made from this compound, which had previously been saturated with asphalt, by means of an ordinary flat iron.

Thus, with this crude equipment, the first roll of prepared, ready-to-lay roofing was made. It was christened "RU-BER-OLD." It marked the birth of a new industry.

Today gigantic roofing machines, in seven great plants, turn out hundreds of rolls of genuine Rubberoid in a fraction of the time it took to make the original roll. By a laborious hand process. Thousands upon thousands of buildings have been covered with genuine Rubberoid during the past forty-eight years. But the original genuine Rubberoid formula is still in use. It has defied successful imitation.

Buildings at the equator and touching the Arctic Circle are roofed with genuine Rubberoid Roll-roofing. Rubberoid Roofs on homes, schools, churches, hotels, museums, office, industrial and farm buildings, have made good in every corner of the globe, regardless of the weather conditions. Many of the Rubberoid Roofs applied in the first few years of its manufacture are still giving service.

Today, genuine Rubberoid Roll-roofing is recognized as a standard of roofing quality, around the world.

During 20 months of the Civilian Pilot Training Program, only four primary students and one secondary student have been killed. There have been four instructor fatalities. These cover more than 1,100,000 hours of flying and about 28,000 flight courses.

RED JACKETS CLINCH SEMI-PRO GRID CHAMPIONSHIP

Dragons Rally Late In Final Quarter To Nose Out Elks

Martines Dashes 58 Yards As Locals Tip Valley Giants, 10-0

Step up and meet the champs! Yesterday afternoon at Russell Field the Red Jackets disposed of the final hurdle between themselves and the western Pennsylvania semi-pro championship by conquering the Valley Giants of Beaver Falls, 10-0, in one of the most evenly contested games ever played locally.

The Giants, living up to advance reports, fought bitterly every step of the way, giving nearly as much as they received, and it took a 50-yard punt return by Frankie Martines to break the ice after nearly three quarters of ding-dong football.

"Lefty" Check had booted the ball out of bounds on the Beaver Falls 13-yard line, and "Beetle" Lonnett immediately kicked back. Martines grabbed the ball on the Warren 42 and headed west behind beautiful blocking which he followed carefully, finally crossing the goal yards ahead of any opposition. Rosequist, of course, converted by placement, his twelfth out of thirteen attempts this season.

Late in the fourth period, the Jackets worked the ball deep into Beaver Falls territory when Pickett fumbled a punt and Johnny Lukas recovered for Warren on the four-yard line. In three tries the locals could get only two yards, so "Rosy" dropped back and sent a placement square between the uprights.

The tilt brought together two unusually well matched clubs, with the Giant line being the first this year which could stand up and battle with the local forewall. Principally because of Mason, an end, and Fairman, 245-pound tackle, the Beaver Falls contingent held the Jacket backs to minimum yardage and opened up holes for their own ball-carriers which gave the visitors an advantage in the running bureau. The locals scored six first downs to five for Beaver Falls, but one of these came as the result of a penalty.

Throughout the second half the Jackets pounded toward the Giants goal, but time after time their drives were stopped cold as the Beaver Falls eleven put up dogged resistance. On two occasions the

SPORT SCATTERINGS

by Bill Rice

A passing attack that was impotent, a rushing offense that clicked only when it didn't put the ball in the danger zone, and positively no blocking were shown the fans Saturday, by a Blue and White team that was deep in the doldrums. We would take this occasion to remind the Dragons that a week from today they will meet a team that probably will not prove so obliging as did the Elks, and that unless they want to wear out the seats of their pantaloons, they'd better plan to produce something better than they trotted out against Ridgway.

Meadville is always tough, and there is no reason to believe that they will be any less formidable in Warren on Armistice Day than they were when they held Erie East to a scoreless tie or when they drubbed Erie Tech, 14 to 7. The Sunrises proved they are likely candidates for the city title Saturday by topping Strong Vincent, 25-8.

We have never held with the notion advanced by some scribes that each Monday evening's column should be devoted to second-guessing, expert quarterbacking and assistant coaching. However, we can't help mentioning again the pathetic figures that the Dragon backs were when carrying the ball. Almost without exception, the Warren leather-totes were forced to run all alone whenever the signal was called, while his mates seemed to be saving themselves for their turns at hammering the line or running the ends. Occasionally, there was some pretty, fair interference, but for the most part the other backs made only half-hearted attempts to throw blocks on the defensive players and if the block was missed, it was accepted with a shrug instead of a better attempt on the next play. You gets got away with something on Saturday, but you can't repeat your victory next Monday with the same kind of football.

There were a number of Dragons on hand at yesterday's pro game, and we hope they had their eyes glued to the field as Frankie Martines started his touchdown dash. Out ahead of the fleet Jamestown lad was some of the finest blocking you agent has seen in many a moon, with would-be tacklers being sent spinning as Jackets bit them square across the knees with the same tenderness administered to a bull in a slaughterhouse. When Frankie began his jaunt there were at least five Giants who were potential tacklers, but by the time he was crossing the wide stripe those gentlemen had carefully masticated a few square inches of Russell Field turf. No eleven is worth a whoop until its players master the fine art of helping their mate by taking out the opposition—not temporarily, but hard enough so that the defensive man is of no further use until the next down. That run, itself, was well worth the price of admission, and the way that Martines picked his way through the fallen bodies was one of the season's thrills.

MIDWEST AND WEST TO SEE TILTS WHICH MAY STRAIGHTEN OUT GRID PICTURE IN NATION THIS WEEK

New York, Nov. 4.—(P)—Minnesota plays Michigan next Saturday; the Texas Aggies encounter Southern Methodist and Stanford meets Washington. When these games are over the long suffering football "experts" may have some real idea of who is who in the football world this season.

Minnesota and Michigan are the unbeaten, and united survivors of the titanic struggle for the Western Conference championship. The Texas Aggies and Stanford have equally perfect records and high ranking. S. M. U., unbeaten, has been tied once but figures to give the Aggies the battle of the season for Southwest Conference honors while Washington, defeated by Minnesota at the start of the season, is right behind Stanford in the Pacific Coast Conference race.

Ranking with these on the list of unbeaten and united candidates for the mythical national title are Cornell, Georgetown, Boston College, Lafayette and Tennessee. Maryland, Boston College's 26-0 victory over Manhattan helped the Eagles' status a trifle but they go back to minor league company this week against Boston University, 9-0 victim of Western Reserve.

Georgetown didn't fall short of Cornell's score when it beat Syracuse 26-6 for its 22nd consecutive game without a defeat. The Hoyas enjoyed a breather this week against an old but weak rival, Maryland. Boston College's 26-0 victory over Manhattan helped the Eagles' status a trifle but they go back to minor league company this week against Boston University, 9-0 victim of Western Reserve.

REDSKINS NEED "Sting" Brown Scores ONLY TWO MORE TO CINCH TITLE

Chicago, Nov. 4 (P)—The Green Bay Packers' famed passing attack is showing unmistakable signs of ailing apart, but the Washington Redskins are ready to take up where the national champions left off.

The Packers, five times the champion in the past 11 years, blew plenty of scoring opportunities Sunday in bowing to the Chicago Bears, 14 to 7, while the undefeated Redskins were reeling on their seventh straight triumph, 37 to 10.

In the final two minutes of one of the most drab football games the turf of Russell Field has had the misfortune to bear, the Dragon gridlers finally capitalized on a break and turned back Ridgway, 13 to 7, Saturday afternoon to chalk up their sixth win of the season and their third in a row.

The break was in the form of a bad punt by Carty, Ridgway end, after the Elks had been forced deep into their own territory by some faulty kick-receiving on the part of Olson. Elk safety man, who juggled Landers' nice boot back to his own four yard line, where he was dropped in his tracks by Jack Karl, one of the few Dragon players who appeared to be imbued with any zest.

Quarterback Quiggle brought gray hairs to Coach Stanford's head with a pass which, by some quirk of fate, was complete to the line. Miller was driven back to the nine by Harding and Fredericks and then missed a first down by inches. Carty's punt sithered out of bounds on the Ridgway 22.

Rex Graham hammered the line for four, Joe Tamburine picked up the same amount at center and Graham found the hole for eight yards and a first down on the six yard line. Graham went to the four through the middle, but Joe

The majority of the playing was done between the 30 yard lines, and when either team would start a drive of any kind something was stopped cold and immediately decided on an aerial attack. Tamburine's first pass was incomplete, but on fourth down Dick Johnson took a reverse from Jack and rifled the touchdown pass to "Sting" Brown. Graham was stopped at the line on the plunge for point, but the ball game was in the bag, would break it up either a fumble, an interception or an offside penalty.

Tamburine, who worked hard throughout the game but was far below his usual standard, set up the first Warren score in the initial canto when he intercepted a pass on the Ridgway 35 and raced to the three yard line before he was hauled down. Zahranski and Joe each picked up a yard and Brown plunged over the line. "Spinner" Johnson cracked the line for the point.

A kick into the coffin corner and a fumble by Tamburine which was recovered by Quiggle put the locals in the hole twice in the second period, but "Pee-wee" Landers booted out of trouble on both occasions as the line held fast.

With Ridgway in possession on the 41, Fredericks broke through twice to drive the Elks back to the 45, but Quiggle unleashed a pass to Olson which was good for 26 yards and a first down on the 19. In three plays the Stanford crew made seven yards, and Quiggle handed a reverse pass to Olson who went to the one yard line before he was chased out of bounds. Quiggle went over with much trouble and then crossed standing up to tie the score.

The second half was tough on the grass between the 30 yard lines again. The Elks were halted on one drive, and the Dragons launched another which carried from their own 18 to the 48 where Landers fumbled and Bove recovered for Ridgway.

After the kickoff following the winning score, the Dragons immediately took possession when Tamburine intercepted a pass on the first play. There was time for one line buck which lost four yards before the final gun.

Except in the passing bureau, which was nearly a total loss, the Dragons had a wide edge in every department. Principally because Walt Fredericks was in the back-field most of the afternoon, the Elks were thrown back 50 yards from scrimmage as against 48 yards forward for a net loss of two yards. The locals checked up nine first downs against five for the visitors, each team being handed one by a penalty.

"Spinner" Johnson played a nice defensive game and averaged four yards on each scrimmage play. Zahranski's five tries netted him 22 yards. Rex Graham got 23 on five attempts, Dick Johnson ten on three plays, Landers ten on a dozen ball-carrying forays and Touchdowns: Brown 2, Quiggle, Fredericks were outstanding in the line. Landers punting was a big factor in the win.

Warren substitutes: Graham, Hoffecker, Niederer, Kifer, R. D. Johnson, Wolfe, North, Marasco.

Ridgway substitutes: Sassman, Linder, Dickinson, Olson.

Officials: Brady, Titusville; referee: Moore, Youngsville, umpire: Clark, Titusville, head linesman.

SHEFFIELD HIGH GRIDDRS LOSE TO WEEDVILLE

Sheffield, Nov. 4.—The hapless Wolverines suffered their sixth straight setback of the season Saturday afternoon when they were knocked off by the Weedville Hi Miners, 13 to 6, in a game played on the local gridiron before a handful of spectators.

The tide of battle moved back and forth, favoring first one team and then the other. Sheffield dominated the play in the first period, notching their touchdown in that session. The invaders had the better of it in the second and final periods, scoring a touchdown in each.

Weedville Hi—13 Sheffield Hi—6

Touchdowns: P. Pochatko, Rebo, R. Azzato, Extra points: Savari (line buck). Substitutes: Weedville—T. Azzato, Dill, Brien; Omsinski, R. Azzato, Sheffield—Clark, A. Pochatko, Jerry Sorvel, li, Referee—Montgomery (Kane); Umpire—Dennis (Sheffield); Linesman—Joe Massa (Kinza).

Final Radio Appeal

To Be Made Tonight By Rival Candidates

(From Page One)

Roosevelt a plurality of almost 11,000,000.

While the fighting finish of the presidential campaign all but pre-empted popular attention, the ballots tomorrow will show a long list of national, state and local offices to be filled.

There are 35 seats in the U. S. senate to be filled, with 102 candidates in the scramble to capture them. There are 432 house seats at stake, and 979 aspirants vying for them. There are 33 governorships for which a field of 102 are contending. And there are a host of other state and local offices at issue.

The big interest in the congressional race is which party will emerge with control of the house of representatives. It is generally conceded that to upset the Democratic majority in the senate would require a major political miracle, since the Republicans have failed to capture at least 3 out of the 5 seats in the "solid south."

Whether there was any link between U. S. naval activity in the Caribbean and the future of French possessions in that area remained a mystery.

Machinery Is Ready For Record Outpouring of Key-state Voters to Polls

til late Tuesday on some contests. However, the state chairman of the major parties predict big majorities for their tickets. Republicans say they will give Wendell L. Willkie 500,000 majority; Democrats prophecy from 450,000 to more than 600,000 for President Roosevelt.

Pennsylvania's 36 electoral votes, second only to New York's in size, was attractive enough to bring both presidential candidates into this state several times at the height of the campaign. President Roosevelt chose Philadelphia for the first of his avowed political speeches.

The Republicans now are in control of the state government and the legislature. They hope to extend this power to the federal offices, to make inroads in the Democratic majority in congress, and to replace Democratic U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey with Republican Jay Cooke. They now have one senator, James J. Davis.

The Democrats, holding the two fiscal offices, seek to retain them, to regain control of the state legislature and to reelect Guffey.

Both sides have made bold predictions of success.

The Democrats haven't forgotten that Mr. Roosevelt carried this one-time traditionally Republican state by 600,000 votes in 1936. They controlled the state government at that time. The Republicans hark back to 1932 when they held the reins at the capital and Mr. Roosevelt failed to carry this state over Hoover by 150,000.

The G. O. P. is counting heavily on the rural districts, traditionally on their side. The Democrats are banking just as much on support in the populous manufacturing areas.

The staff of Hermer, or Mercury, is known as a caduceus, and today is used as a medical insignia.

Politics Takes to the Open Road

Here is a hitchhiker who used his head instead of his thumb. Apparently assuming that Governor E. A. Tamm was a G. O. P. community, he tricked up this sign to obtain a ride. In an emergency he might hit up Willkie backers for a lift, to save that vote.

POLITICAL FORUM

Articles appearing in this department are furnished by representatives of the respective parties in Warren county and are not intended to reflect the views or opinions of the publisher.

REPUBLICAN

Tomorrow America goes to the polls. From farms on a thousand hills, from plantations and prairies, from small-town cottages and city tenements, men and women of different creeds and colors, of different trades and callings will come by the millions to cast their free ballots as their consciences direct them.

They will not be voting for Paradise on the one hand, and Utopia on the other. The old campaign promises are no longer valid. The men and women who vote tomorrow must make up their minds, thoughtfully and seriously, upon the most important issue that has faced America since 1800. They voted then to preserve the Constitution and the Union it provided. We know, today, how wise they were.

And today the Constitution, the American principles of government, are again in danger. Through all the maze of campaign oratory one issue remains clear. The Administration that seeks a Third Term has moved steadily toward concentration of power, first in the hands of the Federal Government and then in the hands of the Executive. Now this Administration comes to the people and asks them to cast aside the tradition which is the safeguard against dictatorship; and this at a time when dictatorship is rising in the world. This is the great issue.

The Administration which seeks a Third Term has insisted that this concentration of power is necessary and that the continued tenure of one man is necessary. The convincing argument of this idea has insisted that it is not necessary; that in fact it is the very negation of the democracy in which we Americans put our faith.

Those who will vote tomorrow have received freedom as a gift from their fathers. It is the heritage of America. Its preservation for those who will come after them is the duty and obligation of the men and women to whom that heritage has been bequeathed. Is all of recorded history false? And is it, instead, true that men are happier and more productive when they are compelled to serve the state? Is the system that has made it possible for men to rise from the lowliest position to the highest, outworn and outmoded? Is it the system that is weak and bewildered or is it the people? Shall Americans yield up to government their freedom for a false sense of security?

These are the questions that must be answered. Not next year, but tomorrow in the voting booth. The vote is more than the choice of a candidate or a ticket; it is the choice between a free America and a planned and regimented America. When you vote tomorrow you will either affirm or deny your faith in American institutions and traditions. The Third Term is not an experiment you can discard at will. It is an extension of power that will make of the next election as much of a farce as the choice of Henry Wallace at the convention in Chicago.

Can you afford to extend the power of one man, here in America, when one-man government is the curse of the modern world? Will you cast aside America's safeguard against one-man government by voting for a Third Term? Think it over carefully and look to the future. Will those who come after you be grateful for their liberty or will they be servants of an all-powerful state?

DEMOCRAT

Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, is admittedly one of the greatest statesmen this country has ever produced. He has served twenty-seven years in the U. S. Senate. HE WAS ONE OF THE SIX SENATORS WHO VOTED AGAINST OUR ENTRY INTO THE WORLD WAR IN 1917. He was a Republican, but he is now an independent. We quote the following significant passages from his speech over the radio on Saturday evening:

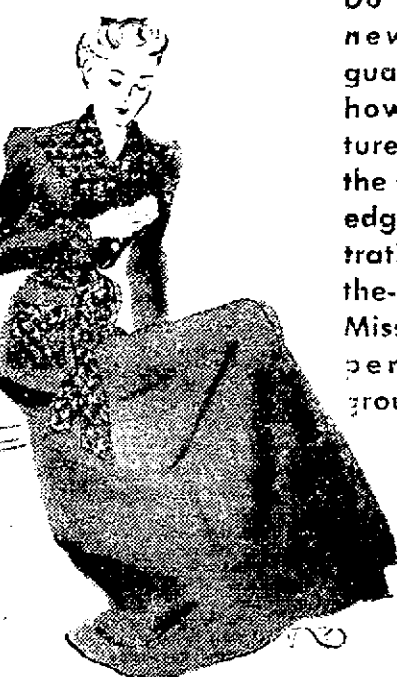

"Are we to be obedient to the commands and demands of greedy monopoly and for the first time in our history elect as President the OUTSTANDING REPRESENTATIVE OF AN UNJUST AND UNCONSCIONABLE MONOPOLY, the representative of one of the greatest trusts ever put together by human hands, a trust which has reached into every home and every fireside to exact its unholy and disgraceful tribute from our citizens?"

It is intended to place in the highest office of our land the one man who more than any other represents the policies and ideals of this unholy monopoly.

"No man on earth would have been able to point to a single instance where Mr. Willkie had done anything for labor, either organized or unorganized. His associates during his life time have been men who had no sympathy with those who toil. Perhaps the most notorious character in America today in the ranks of those who have fought labor to the bitter extremity even of taking human life is Tom Gindler, of the Republic Steel Company, . . . an unjust man. It is a bloody tale of injustice, misery and woe. Yet, in a speech in New York . . . Mr. Willkie said in referring to Mr. Gindler: "If we are patient we will see the time when men like Gindler are recognized as the true heroes of America."

"They (Willkie's companies) have gone into municipalities and fought the issuance of bonds for the construction or buying existing distribution systems. They have gone into the courts with their numerous injunctions, only for the purpose of bringing about delay and expense. They have killed newspapers and built up others to carry on their propaganda."

"Mr. Willkie's entire life has been devoted to fighting and opposing every principle of governmental generation and transmission of electricity. All the money and property he owns he has secured in carrying on that unjust and unholy fight. (We should) refuse to listen to the bitter words of fault-finding or give credence to the promises made by a man who has sprung up overnight, with a record of life performance that is contrary to all our convictions of justice. Backed by the great money power of Wall Street, helped to a great extent by a friendly press which has grown rich in advertising contributed to it by this same trust, aided and abetted by every influence that monopoly and greed can conceive, it is intended to place in the highest office in our land the one man who more than any other represents the policies and ideals of this unholy monopoly."

"In this perilous hour, I call upon God to give us MEN; to give us the leader with a vision; the one who is tried and true; to help us to realize the fidelity and the faithfulness of the man who has led us up to this hour, and who is now in charge of our Ship of State."

As we have so often before reiterated in this column, it is a disgrace to the American nation and to the American public that anyone like Mr. Willkie should have been a candidate for the Presidency. The Republicans were not so devoid of acceptable candidates that they had to inflict this avowed enemy of society on the people. Mr. Norris corroborates our contention. It would be well for every American citizen to hearken to his words. He is a man of unimpeachable integrity; a man whose entire life has been devoted to the well-being of his country. A man who has seen scoundrels come and go in Washington, who knows the ins and outs of government as no one else does. He asks you to put patriotism above party. He asks you to defeat Willkie.

While Mrs. Benjamin M. Golder has yet to win her first national championship, she has already won the rating of a woman life master, and will probably be the second woman to win full life membership. At a recent tournament in Atlantic City, she had the distinction of winning three of the four championships, the women's pair, mixed pair and open pair, losing out only in the team-of-four. She has won more than 15 championships this year.

I suppose there is no greater thrill in bridge than the execution of a successful squeeze play, and the double squeeze is quite rare. In today's hand Mrs. Golder won the opening lead with dummy's ace of diamonds and led the three of clubs. West won and came back with a diamond.

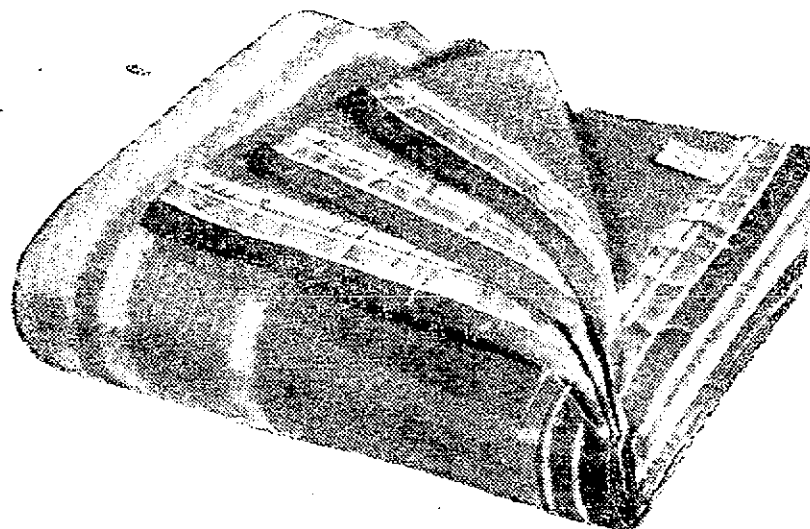

Now most players would make the mistake of trying to run the clubs. Mrs. Golder, however, decided that she would first set the stage for a squeeze play in case the club suit did not break. So

HARMON IDLE BUT HOLDS SCORING LEAD

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Though he enjoyed a day of rest Saturday along with his Michigan teammates, Tommy Harmon managed to cling to a slim lead in the national football scoring race.

The big Wolverine's total of 87 points in five games, including 12 touchdowns, was one point better than the 86 boasted by Walter Duma of Norwich University in Vermont, who jumped into the race with all four feet by piling up 27 points as his team smothered the Hyannis Teachers of Massachusetts, 40 to 0. The spurge also enabled him to supplant Penn's Penn's Frank Reagan as the eastern leader, though the Quaker star scored a touchdown and ran his total to 67.
